

Activating Innovation to Accelerate Performance©

Equip C-Suite executives to unlock the power of strategic agility and accelerate progress toward objectives.

Why aren't my people more strategic?

If you've ever heard, asked, or simply thought this question, then you've felt the impact of strategic thinking that's out of sync with what's happening on the ground.

C-Suite and Executive Teams that embrace an innovation mindset and cultivate the skills that enable strategic agility accelerate individual and organizational performance. This equips people to achieve objectives faster, more creatively, and with greater buy-in for acceptance.

Arts-based experiential learning unlocks the power of creativity and innovation. You gain:

- Space and time to consider the bigger picture, expand perspective
- New ways of seeing and thinking to make sense of complexity and embrace uncertainty
- Elevated skills to manage a variety of strategic and operational challenges as they arise on the ground
- Building blocks (cohesion and collaboration) to build and nurture a high-performing team
- Enhanced ability – and tools – to create breakthrough strategies and compelling programs, services, or products for customers
- Greater confidence to think and act strategically
- Meaningful progress on the situation, issue, or initiative they select and most want to advance

The Experience:

During this remarkable, highly-collaborative experience, your executive team will:

- Engage in arts-based experiential learning activities that promote strategic agility
- Discover – and strengthen – the skills most needed to nurture a strategic team
- Apply the new learning to a specific situation in your business that you select

Learn more:

Tara Rethore - Board Member, Global C-Suite Advisor, CEO, Former Senior Executive in Global Businesses, Certified Innovation Coach. Contact: TRethore@Strategy4Real.com